

Fall-Winter 14

Agatha Ruiz de la Prada Baby reinvents itself for its AW2014 collection.

A proposal full of surprises, which combines perfectly the most innovative trends with its distinctive style, bringing its magic to the world of children's fashion, to make every moment a wonderful adventure of sensations.

The creativity of Agatha Ruiz de la Prada Baby sets again trends applied to a concept of life, which will be reflected as a characteristic hallmark of our little ones. In this collection we propose a journey through the world of the senses with a special collection, in all its lines and, with a firm commitment to the newborn part, to accompany babies on their first experiences with comfort and color.

The infinite set of icons provides an enormous wealth, cheerful and dynamic combinations that are composed to achieve the uniqueness of its garments.

For enjoying the special occasions and for every day too. Current lines, where the flannel and plain and printed knitted fabrics make up amusing environments.

A singular style and an entertaining way of living life since the earliest childhood.
